Equinox

By Taylor McCune

Hey, guys, it's finally spring! Officially!

This time of year the coast begins to heat up, both literally and figuratively. Warm(er) weather begins to settle in, causing the same folks who thought it was "freezing" at 60 degrees in October to strip down to their swimsuits and start their summer tans, at 60 degrees in March. I'm not making fun, I'm one of those, too. There's just something so delightful about sitting in the sun, catching just a breath of a southern breeze after months of north winds finally subside.

With the arrival of spring comes an increase in events along the coast. The season starts to pick up with this weekend's Civil War re-enactment in Beaufort. Exactly 150 years ago, the town was taken over by Union troops, and Saturday, the town will resemble itself back in 1862. Next month's Beaufort Wine and Food Weekend offers a chance to pull out those sundresses and seersucker suits for the first time. May is boat month, with the Wooden Boat Show, Beaufort Boatbuilding Challenge and In-Water Boat Shows all coming up. Of course, there's the Beaufort Music Festival in May too.

Hooray for spring!

Furry fun at the N.C. Aquarium Otter Birthday Bash March 24

Join the furry fun on Saturday, March 24, and salute river otters Pungo, Neuse and Eno at the N.C. Aquarium at Pine Knoll Shores.

The annual Otter Birthday Bash celebrates the fun-loving creatures and the conservation success stories of their species. Activities are free with admission or membership.

Wish the otters well and sign their big birthday card, watch them with their otter-oriented birthday treats and gifts, and explore more about otters with playful crafts and programs. Enjoy a “furry film fest” of otters on camera.

The films and photos include Eno’s story, which inspired the annual celebration. Eno arrived at the aquarium three years ago as an orphaned infant.

As he grew, he had to have lessons on important otter skills such as swimming, eating fish and getting along with others. Pungo and Neuse have been at the Aquarium since 2006. All three are named for North Carolina rivers.

The birthday bash encourages creativity as well as conservation. Budding poets should enter the Ode to Otters Twitter Poetry Challenge. Just Tweet your rhyme or haiku within the 140-character limit by Friday, March 24.

Help the N.C. Aquarium at Pine Knoll Shores otters celebrate another year Saturday, March 24. Otter birthday-related activities are free with membership or admissions.

Be sure to include @NCAquariumatPKS with your poem or as part of it, and remember to include it in your character count.

The Otterly Artful Competition for visual artists is back, now easier to enter and win. All entries earn the artist a chance in a random drawing for an otterly wonderful prize pack. New this year – scanned artwork is accepted by email. Entries also are accepted by mail and in person. Entries should focus on otters, of course, and must be submitted by Friday, March 23. See the website for details on how to enter.

The River Otters exhibit and the celebration highlight the comeback of otters in North Carolina. They had all but disappeared from the state at one time due to over-hunting for their luxurious fur, and loss of habitat due to development and pollution. Thanks to conservation measures and reintroduction efforts, they once again inhabit waterways throughout the state.

Encore Pets sets dinner

Encore Pets Inc. will have its annual Spay-ghetti dinner, raffle and auction at 7 p.m. Friday at The History Place in Morehead City.

N.Y. Deli, Panera Bread, Seaside

Cheesecake, Dunkin Donuts and Amos Mosquitoes are donating food. In addition, area businesses are donating auction items.

Tickets, $25, are available online at encorepets.org or at Seaside Bakery and Holly’s Art Escapes in Morehead City, N.Y. Deli in Atlantic Beach and Handscapes Gallery in Beaufort.

All proceeds will be used to fund Spay 2 Save, a low cost mobile spay and neuter clinic opening in May to serve county residents.

Funds will be used to fund staff, including a full time veterinarian, and equip the clinic with supplies.

Encore Pets is an all-volunteer organization that depends on donations to fund its work. To date, the group has rescued more than 400 dogs and cats and spayed/neutered more than 1,400 animals.

Hannah’s to host cornhole tourney

Hannah’s Haus in Beaufort will be hosting a cornhole tournament fundraiser Friday, March 23. All proceeds will benefit the Beaufort Music Festival.

Registration is at 5 p.m. and the tournament starts at 6 p.m. The fee is $40 per team, which includes two beers and a food ticket.

Feeling superstitious? Personal boards and bags are welcome for the competition.

First place wins $100; second, a set of cornhole boards; third, a gift certificate.

To pre-register or for more information, visit www.beaufortmusicfestival.com.

Hannah’s Haus is located on the corner of Highway 70 and Lennoxville Road in Beaufort.

'The Hunger Games' should satisfy its legions of salivating fans

By Christy Lemire • Associated Press

Recently, I made the mistake of joking on Twitter about the possibility of a Team Peeta vs. Team Gale dynamic, referring to the two young men who hold special places in the heart of Katniss Everdeen, the 16-year-old heroine of The Hunger Games.

Some people played along but many were appalled at the very idea of something as clichéd and flimsy as a love triangle defining the young woman they've come to admire so fiercely from Suzanne Collins' best-selling trio of novels, the first adaptation of which makes its way to the screen this weekend amid great fervor and expectation.

I learned very quickly: These people do not mess around when it comes to Katniss.

Those same fans should be thoroughly satisfied with the faithfulness of Gary Ross' film, with its propulsive nature and vivid imagery: a mix of decadent costumes and architecture and harsh, unforgiving exteriors. At its center is Jennifer Lawrence, an ideal choice to play this strong, independent young woman. Those who saw her Oscar-nominated performance in 2010's "Winter's Bone" already were aware of her startling screen presence — her natural beauty, instincts and maturity beyond her years. And yet there's a youthful energy and even a vulnerability that make her relatable to the core, target audience of female fans. Lawrence is endlessly watchable, and she better be, since she's in nearly every single shot of Ross' film.

And speaking of Ross, he may seem an unlikely choice to direct a movie about a futuristic, fascist world in which teenagers must fight each other to the death in an exploitative display of national loyalty and pride. He is, after all, the man behind such clever, charming and uplifting films as "Dave," "Pleasantville" and "Seabiscuit." But those movies, while based on high-concept premises, ultimately had pointed things to say about politics and society. The methodology of The Hunger Games may be more complicated but its darkly satirical message is unmistakable.

The script adheres rather closely to Collins' novel — no surprise there since she co-wrote it with Ross and Billy Ray — although it does truncate some of the subplots that give the book its greatest emotional heft as well as soften the brutal violence of the games themselves, ostensibly in the name of securing a PG-13 rating. Still, the makers of "The Hunger Games" have managed the difficult feat of crafting a film that feels both epic and intimate at once.

A post-apocalyptic version of North America has been divided into 12 districts. Every year, a teenage boy and girl from each are selected randomly at the "Reaping" and sent to the opulent, art deco Capitol, where they're made over, trained and primed to fight each other until one is left standing in the sprawling arena. Gamesmakers manipulate their surroundings, "Truman Show"-style; Wes Bentley, sporting fiendish facial hair, functions as a sadistic version of Christof in a control room on high.

Every minute of competition is breathlessly broadcast to the nation, with viewers rooting for and betting on their favorites; having a sympathetic back story is crucial, and similarities to reality shows like "Survivor" or even "American Idol" are clearly intended. Even the program's host (Stanley Tucci in an upswept blue 'do) has a huge personality but isn't so outlandish that you couldn't image him as the face of some top-rated primetime game show.

Katniss lives with her widowed mother and beloved younger sister, Prim, in the distant District 12, known for its poverty and mining — a place visually reminiscent of the Ozarks of "Winter's Bone." An expert hunter with a bow and arrow, she spends her days seeking food for her family in the forest with her best friend, the hunky Gale (Liam Hemsworth). Some of the strongest moments in "The Hunger Games" are not the big action sequences, where the effects tend to look a bit cheesy, but rather the quieter exchanges like the ones Lawrence and Hemsworth effortlessly share.

But when Prim's name is called at the Reaping, Katniss springs into action to volunteer instead. This is one of those scenes in which you don't need to have read the book to feel emotionally engaged; the drama and the tears feel real, and they're not overplayed. Katniss' male counterpart is Peeta Mellark (Josh Hutcherson), the baker's sweet but bland son. Together they're to receive mentoring from the frequently inebriated Haymitch (Woody Harrelson), the last winner from District 12; the character's rough edges have been buffed significantly and it's not an improvement. Elizabeth Banks is nearly unrecognizable as Effie, their garish, perky escort. They also undergo mandated makeovers from their stylist, Cinna (Lenny Kravitz in an inspired bit of casting — he and Lawrence have a lovely rapport together).

There's never any question as to whether Katniss will win — there are two more books waiting to be made into movies after this one — so the challenge comes from maintaining a sense of tension and immersion in this dystopian world as competitors drop off one by one, which Ross and Co. achieve. "The Hunger Games" runs nearly two and a half hours in length but is the rare film that never drags and doesn't overstay its welcome. It could keep running as long as Katniss does, and we'd want to be right there every heart-pounding step of the way.

"The Hunger Games," a Lionsgate release, is rated PG-13 for intense violent thematic material and disturbing images — all involving teens. Running time: 142 minutes.

Follow dinner with 'Love Letters'

Love Letters" will be presented in an intimate dinner theater atmosphere at White Oak River Bistro, 206 W. Corbett Ave., Swansboro, Friday, March 30, and Saturday, March 31.

Dinner seating is at 6:30 p.m. with the show to follow. Dessert will be served between the two acts.

"Love Letters," written by A.R. Gurney, is comprised of letters exchanged over a lifetime by two people who grew up together, went their separate ways but continued to share confidences.

The letters reveal the frequently funny, charming, ironic and sarcastic traits of the characters and how much they really meant, and gave, to each other over the years. The play is intended for mature audiences due to language.

Patsy and Paul White, from

New Bern, will present the play. They have performed "Love Letters" several times in New Bern and in Morehead City. Mr. White performed his one-man play "Hemmingway, His Way" to sold-out audiences at the Swansboro restaurant in January.

Mr. White was a lead actor in the "Rocking Chair" spots in the 2008 and 2010 U.S. Senate races in North Carolina. Ms. White directs.

The gourmet dinner includes assorted stuffed bread appetizers, a carving station offering Slow Roasted Beef Tenderloin or Mediterranean stuffed chicken, a pasta station and a cold station, a glass of wine, soft beverages and Italian Chocolate Napoleon Cake for dessert.

Sound Furniture and Home Inventory Specialists are sponsors of this production.

Tickets are $50 each and include the play, dinner, tax and gratuity. Tickets are

'For The People' to speak to the masses

The RiverTowne Repertory Players will perform "For The People," a new musical comedy by Jim Ragan and Tracy Henry.

"For The People" runs Friday, March 23, through April 1 at the Masonic Theatre, 514 Hancock St., New Bern, with performances at 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, and Sundays at 3 p.m.

Mr. Ragan, a retired superior court judge and local playwright, has teamed with Los Angeles-based composer and director Mr. Henry to craft the perfect entertainment for this election season.

"For The People" is a modern-day political fable set in the midst of a gubernatorial campaign, filled with backroom deals, surprising plot twists, and a touch of romance. With its engaging and memorable score,

"For The People" will appeal to audiences of all political persuasions.

Tickets are available at the Bank of the Arts in New Bern, 252-638-5277. Advance tickets are $15; admission at the door is $18. Tickets for premiere night are $20, which includes dinner.

For further information, visit the official website of "For The People," www.forthepeoplemusical.com. "For The People" is also on Facebook and Twitter.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Sagapool heats up the night in Oriental Sagapool's joyful blend of gypsy, jazz, klezmer, folk and Latin vibes will be in Oriental 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 24.

Pamlico Musical Society is presenting the six-member band that blends guitar, double bass, accordion, percussions, banjo, glockenspiel, violin, clarinet and piano, defying any single music category.

Instead, Sagapool weaves a lively tapestry of multi-cultural music that has made the group a rising star on the world stage.

Their sparkling mix of free-wheeling shenanigans combined with striking musical skill earned them Best Instrumental Album at the Canadian Folk Music Awards in 2008.

Sagapool's recordings continue to enjoy great success, attracting a loyal following among audiences throughout France, Canada and the United States.

From whimsical tunes reminiscent of Cirque du Soleil, to fresh

The Isaacs pickin' March 24 in Morehead

Bluegrass and Southern gospel band, The Isaacs, will perform at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 24, at The Morehead Center, on 14th and Arendell streets.

Tickets, $15 for adults and $10 for children, are available at either the website, www.themoreheadcenter.com or by calling 726-1501.

The Isaacs are a multi-award winning family group began singing 30 years ago. The vocalists are Lily Isaacs and her children, Ben Isaacs, Sonya Isaacs and Rebecca Isaacs Bowman.

The Isaacs have a unique style that blends tight, family harmony with contemporary acoustic instrumentation that appeals to a variety of audiences. Their musical influences are from all genres of music including bluegrass, rhythm and blues, folk and country, contemporary acoustic and Southern gospel.

They perform frequently at the Grand Ole Opry, are active members on the Gaither Homecoming Videos and Concert Series and travel throughout the year performing internationally.

They have performed the National Anthem for many sporting events, including a Cincinnati Bengal's football game, several Nashville Predators Hockey games, an Astros and Braves pre-season baseball game as well as various political gatherings. They also received a standing ovation for their patriotic performance at Carnegie Hall.

Lily Isaacs is a vocalist and matriarch of the group. She was born in Germany after World War II to two Jewish Holocaust survivors and moved to the United States when she was 2 years old. She grew up in the Bronx, N.Y., studying theatre and performing on off Broadway and in 1968 recorded a folk album on Columbia Records with her friend as "Lily and Maria."

She became a Christian in 1971 when a death in the family brought her and patriarch Joe Isaacs to church for the first time. That night, they began singing Christian music and laid the foundation upon which the Isaacs ministry has been built.

Siblings Ben, Sonya and Rebecca all sing and play different instruments.

Ben, the oldest sings and plays upright bass on stage. He spends much of his off time in the studio producing and playing bass on numerous other albums including Merle Haggard, George Jones, a Jimmy Martin Tribute Project and Cherryholmes, and has received five Grammy nominations for the latter two artists. He arranges many of the Isaacs songs and is their sound technician on tour.

Ben and his wife Melinda and their three children, Jacob, Cameron and Kyra, make their home in Hendersonville, Tenn.

Sonya, also living near Nashville, is newly married to Jimmy Yearly and is the middle daughter and mandolin player/vocalist for the Isaacs.

Rebecca, the youngest sister, sings and plays guitar and resides in LaFollette, Tenn., with husband John Bowman and their two children, Levi and Jakobi.

The Isaacs have made frequent guest appearances on many other artists records including Dolly Parton, Trace Adkins, Brad Paisley, Paul Simon, Vince Gill, Randy Owen, Trisha Yearwood, Ralph Stanley, Mark Lowry and many more. Preview their performance at www.theisaacs.com.

Ballet troupe to perform

Folklorico Quetzalcoatl will perform 7 p.m. Saturday, March 31, in the Croatan High School auditorium.

This performance is open to the public.

This nationally recognized dance troupe from Aurora, Ill., will bring choreography and showmanship to the stage. Authentic wardrobes, made in Mexico, make this ballet one of the best examples of Mexican tradition and art in the United States.

Ballet Folklorico Quetzalcoatl includes more than 50 dancers ranging from 8 to 40 years of age. The group's performances appeal to all ages and crosses cultural barriers.

This troupe performs dances from different Mexican regions, and each costume, dance move and musical note expresses a story from Mexican culture.

Croatan High School's Student Government Association is sponsoring the performance. Proceeds raised over the expenses will be used for the association's community projects.

Tickets are $10 and can be reserved by calling Croatan High School, 393-7022.

Living history will occupy Carteret County

BY TAYLOR MCCUNE

Visitors to downtown Beaufort Saturday, March 24, might find themselves face to face with a horse, surprised by a bedraggled war prisoner or startled by the sudden sound of cannon fire. There's no need to duck and cover, at least not this time around; the cannons and other artillery will be shooting blanks.

But 150 years ago, when Union troops occupied Beaufort during the American Civil War, townspeople had to watch their step. On March 24, 1862, Confederate Beaufort fell to Union control. Ships swarmed in, prisoners were taken and daily life changed for the remainder of the war.

The Beaufort Historic Site, N.C. Maritime Museum, Fort Macon State Park, Cape Lookout National Seashore and The History Place have banded together to present "Confederates under Union Occupation: Life in Beaufort During the Civil War" to mark the historic event. The 150th, or sesquicentennial, anniversary of the war began in 2011 and lasts through 2015.

The highlight of the anniversary event is its living history component.

The BHA's historic site will be occupied by re-enactors performing vignettes of soldiers and civilians living daily life and practicing military drills throughout the day and the Maritime Museum's Harvey W. Smith Watercraft Center will feature Navy interpretations and educational activities while period vessels cruise the waterfront.

Visitors will also be able to interact with artillerymen at Grayden Paul Park and mourners in the town's Old Burying Ground, where Confederate and Union soldiers, slaves and freed blacks are buried.

Visitors will also have the option to take a tour of Beaufort's key Civil War sites by foot or on the Beaufort Historic Site's double-decker bus. Bus tours will be specially designed to visit spots like the Easton House, used as a Union-controlled jail, the Leecraft house, where Beaufort residents obtained travel passes and permits to purchase goods during the occupation, and Union City, the area north of Broad Street where black refugees took shelter.

Just a short ferry-ride away, park rangers at Cape Lookout National Seashore will give tours of the lighthouse, which Confederate espionage agents attempted to destroy during the war.

Across the Beaufort Inlet lies Fort Macon State Park. Soldiers will conduct a nighttime canon firing to close out the day of occupation. The fort itself remained unoccupied for some time after Beaufort fell to the Union, but was ultimately overtaken on April 26, 1862, after a month under siege. The fort will host its own weekend of re-enactments April 21 and 22.

On Sunday, March 25, Cape Lookout will continue to offer tours of the lighthouse and The History Place in Morehead City will conclude the weekend at 2 p.m. with period music by the Carteret Grays.
